Buffalo Hunt in Caprivi

Overview

Buffalo Hunting in the World-Famous Caprivi Strip

Through our long-standing partner Omujeve Hunting Safaris, we are able to offer a very limited number of buffalo hunts in the world-renowned Caprivi region (Zambezi Region) in northeastern Namibia. The area is internationally recognized as one of Africa's most exciting destinations for classic big game hunting in wild and untouched surroundings.

Your journey begins in Windhoek, followed by a domestic flight to Katima Mulilo, the main town of the Caprivi Strip. From there, you continue to the hunting area, where the safari is based in Omujeve's concession along the Kwando River (only a two-hour drive from Katima Mulilo Airport).

Trophy Quality and Game Population

The hunt focuses on large, old buffalo bulls – the so-called “dagga boys” – and the area has consistently produced outstanding trophies over many years.

In Caprivi, mature buffalo bulls typically measure around 35–40 inches in horn spread, with occasional larger specimens.

The very limited number of hunting licenses ensures responsible and sustainable wildlife management, while maintaining a high-quality hunting experience. In addition to buffalo and elephant, the area offers one of Africa's most authentic wilderness experiences, with strong why it is considered one of the most intense and thrilling experiences in African big game hunting.

Hunting Season

The hunting season runs during the dry winter months from May to November, when buffalo concentrate around rivers and waterholes. This provides optimal tracking conditions and increases the chances of encountering large, mature bulls.

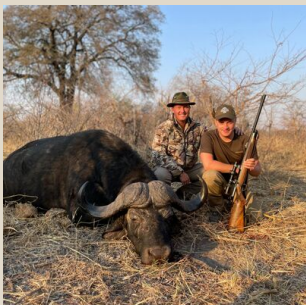

The Hunting Method

Buffalo hunting in Caprivi is conducted in the most authentic and traditional way – a combination of tracking by vehicle and intense spot-and-stalk hunting on foot. The hunt typically begins with driving out from camp in 4x4 vehicles, where buffalo are often located at a distance in open terrain or along floodplains.

Once the animals are found, the hunt continues on foot. With the wind in your face and in close cooperation with the professional hunter and experienced trackers, you carefully close the distance.

What follows is an exciting and often demanding stalk through dense bush, mopane woodland, and varied terrain, where tracks, freshness, and buffalo behavior are constantly assessed. The focus is typically on old, solitary bulls – the so-called “dagga boys” – which often stay in thick cover and can be both wary and unpredictable.

When the right bull has been selected, the final stalk is carefully planned, taking into account wind direction, terrain, and animal movement. Hunting buffalo on foot requires patience, focus, and deep respect for one of Africa's most dangerous game species – which is precisely

HUNTING AREA Caprivi

The Hunting Area

Hunting takes place in some of the region's most renowned and game-rich areas, including Bwabwata National Park, as well as the surrounding national parks of Mudumu and Nkasa Rupara. Bwabwata National Park alone covers approximately 275,000 hectares of wild and largely untouched bush, and the area forms part of the vast Kavango–Zambezi Transfrontier Conservation Area (KAZA) – one of the largest conservation areas in the world and home to one of Africa's largest continuous elephant populations.

The Caprivi region serves as a vital migration corridor for both buffalo and elephants, with animals moving freely between Namibia, Botswana, Zambia, Angola, and Zimbabwe. The major river systems of the Kwando, Chobe, and Zambezi create lush wetlands and floodplains that attract large herds of buffalo and elephants, providing ideal conditions for classic hunting of old bulls.

All trophies taken in the Caprivi Strip (Zambezi Region) must, in accordance with veterinary regulations, be kept in quarantine for approximately 2–3 months before they can be transported out of the area due to disease control restrictions (including foot-and-mouth disease).

Costs for quarantine and transport to a local Namibian taxidermist are handled by a local shipping agent – an invoice will be issued once the trophies are released from quarantine (estimated around USD 1,000, depending on the number of trophies).

About us

Limpopo & Diana Hunting Tours

Limpopo & Diana Hunting Tours Limpopo Travel and Diana Hunting Tours – which today are one and the same company - are built on more than four decades of experience in the hunting travel industry. Diana Hunting tours was founded in Svendborg back in 1974 by the internationally known figure in the hunting tour industry, Jan Krossteig, who today remains shareholder and chairman of the concern.

Over the years the company has grown into the world's largest hunting travel office, with hunting partners in more than 40 countries and customers from around the world. This has only been possible because of the strength of our customers faith in our company, our partners and the service we provide. We take great pride in the fact that a significant number of our customers are "regulars" you not only travel with us frequently, but also bring with them new customers into our business.

The hunting travel market has never been as chaotic as it is at present. There have always been a mass of small and medium sized agencies trading on the market, but in recent years the rise of the internet has really opened up the market for direct booking and packages sold by "agents" of more or less transparent character and by agencies based abroad.

A large number of hunters have had their fingers burnt booking "cheap" packages, which rarely proceed as promised. Generally it is only when things go wrong that the unfortunate hunter who bought the tour first realises what the difference between a good Danish travel agency - with all the security that entails - and a questionable foreign seller, really is.

What we offer our customers is a rather unique level of security. Our experienced staff really know our destinations and can provide highly qualified advice tailored to the customer's individual requirements. If you book your hunting tour through us you also have a guarantee against the unlikely event of bankruptcy through the Danish Travel Guarantee Fund. Our long standing membership of the Danish Travel Agency Association is also a guarantee for professional service throughout all the proceedings that a hunting tour entails - also in the event of something not going quite as planned. As one of our customers you can expect around the clock support, via our emergency hotline, in the event of anything at all going wrong.
